An invitation given by Chief Bates was accepted to witness a parade of the fire department of this city to-morrow, and at a later hour in the day to be present at an exhibition of the corps of sappers and miners at a point not far distant from the city. Chief Bennet asked and received leave to substitute a report for one given last evening by the committee on the importance of permanence in the position of chief and assistant chief engineers. The report recommended that parties holding these positions should be men of energy, self-reliance and education, and that every worthy and capable man should be retained in the department as long as possible. This report was received and adopted. Messrs. George T. Hope and H. H. Hall were then on motion elected. Mr. Hope declares that the greater the number of fires that occurred in the city the greater the benefit that accrued to insurance companies. Fires could not take place too frequently to prevent insurance companies building up their premiums. The committee on fire escapes and ladder extensions were given until next convention to make their report.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LEGISLATURE

Fifth Biennial Session.

Third Day.

Olympia, W. T., Oct. [illegible]

The House was called to order at 10 A. M. Speaker Evans presiding.

After roll call and reading of the journal a committee was appointed on rules of order.

Moved by Mr Hodges that the reporters of the press be invited within the bar of the House. Carried.

Moved and carried that a committee of three be appointed to wait on His Excellency Gov. Ferry and inform him that the House was now permanently organized.

Message from the Council to the effect that a committee of three had been appointed to confer with a like committee from the House to inquire into the matter of incidental public printing, &c. On motion a like committee was appointed by the House. A message was then received from the Council that a committee had been appointed to inform the governor that the Council was now ready for business.

Pending an answer from His Excellency the House took a recess until 1:30 P. M.

At the hour named the house was called to order, when a message was received from the council to the effect that C. B. No. 1, "An act to authorize the town of Olympia to levy a special tax," had passed the council and was submitted for the action of the house. At a later period of the day the bill was taken up, read three times and passed by the house. This bill is an important one to the town of Olympia as it empowers the town trustees to levy a special tax on all taxable property, said tax not to exceed $1,000, which is to be appropriated to the building of a wharf to deep water. It also provides for a special election for the purpose of voting on the question which is to be decided by a two thirds majority of the voting taxpayers.

A magnificent stuffed eagle was presented by Hon. Henry A. Webster to the legislature, and a committee appointed to prepare a suitable answer to the communication accompanying it.

The council having notified the house that they were ready to meet in joint convention to meet the governor, the members soon after took their places in the lower house, and at 2 P. M. a committee from the joint convention escorted his excellency into the house, where he was welcomed by the president of the council, the members meanwhile standing until he had taken his seat.

The governor then proceeded to read his message, which occupied forty five minutes in delivery.

The joint convention having adjourned, the house was called to order, when it was moved and carried that one thousand copies of the governor's message be ordered printed for distribution.

The house then adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow (Thursday).

THE TERRITORIES

The estate of the late S. B. Hinds of Seattle, has been appraised at $13,450.

The Fairview Miners Union of Owyhee passed a resolution not to work longer than October 1st in all the mines that were delinquent, and on that day work ceased in a number of the mines in that section.

Captain Hyde of the steamer Otter, on the Sound, was struck with paralysis last Monday. He was at the wheel at the time and fell in a helpless condition upon the floor of the pilot house. He has been unwell for several weeks.

The Talbot company are to have built sixty new, large coal cars. To give an idea of the extent of this undertaking we have only to mention that each car will have eight wheels, and that the wheels will average 150 pounds each, or 72,000 pounds for the sixty cars.

A new schedule of fares has been established on the Olympia and Seattle steamboat route. From Seattle it costs now a dollar to Tacoma, a dollar and a half to Steilacoom, and two dollars to Olympia. The prices down from Olympia are a dollar to Steilacoom, a dollar and a half to Tacoma and two dollars to Seattle. Between ports the charge is one dollar.

Father Cataldo has lately been to Pierce City to make a collection for the purpose of building a school house for the Nez Perce Indians. Agent Monteith has forbidden him to build a school house, but the Father holds the permission of the department to erect mission buildings and thinks quite naturally that a school house is included. They are having a sharp little war over the matter.

From Mr Thos. Cahalan, of Boise City, who has just returned from Rocky Bar, Alturas county, the Statesman learns of a rich clean up at the Last Chance quartz mine, which is situated near the famous Atlanta lead, and is owned and worked by Messrs Jas. and Geo. Newton, Judge Heath and Mr Hogan. During August the owners selected 500 pounds out of 20 tons of rock, and having pounded the 500 pounds in a hand mortar realized $600 therefrom, and from the balance of the 20 tons when crushed, they got $2,000.

A young man who went from Port Discovery to Utsalady last week, fell from the wharf of the latter place on Saturday night, striking his head against the guard of the steamer Blakely, crushing in his skull and falling into the water. Every effort was made to save him but without success. The body was found next morning. Coroner Kinney held an inquest to-day and returned a verdict of accidental death. From a certificate of discharge from the ship Oakland it was learned that he was John Tallant, from Dublin, and 19 years of age.

Judge Jacobs of Seattle, Capt. Burton of Port Townsend and Mr [illegible] Hunt of Port Townsend went over to Lopez Island about ten days ago to hunt deer. By request of one of the settlers they hunted on his farm, and in three days killed twenty deer. The twenty were secured within a compass of 200 acres, and the judge estimates that there are at least 200 deer on the thousand acres belonging to that settler. Their ravages on the farmers gardens make them an intolerable nuisance, the animals digging the potatoes with their [illegible] and eating and wasting generally. The farmers don't have to buy much meat, however.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Rev. Samuel Gilson, M. A., of Hartford College, Oxford, and rector of St. Paul's, [illegible], Staffordshire, was formally instituted into the rectory of Christ church in Victoria and installed archdeacon of Vancouver and dean of the cathedral by the Lord Bishop of Columbia on Sunday last.

The Dominion steamer has gone to [illegible] the [illegible] Sands. The red buoy will be placed on Spanish Bank at the entrance to Burrard Inlet, and the other, a black and white chequered one, will be placed on the Fraser river sandheads. Capt. Cooper will superintend the placing of the buoys.

The Colonist of last Saturday says: "Mrs. [illegible] a widow, who came here about six weeks ago from Forest Grove, Oregon, died yesterday from a contagious disease contracted, it is said, through using some furniture that had been in possession of a family similarly afflicted some time before. By the death of Mrs. [illegible] five children, four of them all are orphaned. The case is one of the saddest that ever came under our notice."

As the Great Eastern steamship is amongst steamships so is the Indian canoe now being prepared for the centennial exhibition at the Indian reservation above Victoria among canoes. It is the largest canoe probably ever constructed. Its dimensions are 60 feet in length, 8 feet in breadth and 4 feet in height. It was built by order of Moquillah, chief of the Nootka Indians, on the west coast of Vancouver Island several years ago and was afterwards sold to the Snookish tribe on the east coast of the island. J. G. Swan, Esq., centennial commissioner for the United States board of the big canoe when at Alert Bay some weeks since gathering specimens and bought it. The canoe was delivered at Victoria and the bows and stern are now being ornamented with heraldic devices by Indian artisans, some of these devices represent bears, eagles, whales and a large fish that is a deadly foe to whales, other devices represent a fabulous animal that is supposed to pursue and devour siwashes. The leviathan will hold 100 adults easily and 70 people might sleep in her "hold" without reasonable cause of complaint for want of room.

BUSTING THE FLOUR BARREL.

A Washington street man was sent [illegible] evening enjoying his Free Press when he became aware that an [illegible] racket was going on in the back yard.

"[illegible] what in the world are you [illegible] out there?" he inquired fretfully.

"Trying to break this barrel," hung [illegible]

"Oh, stop that row. I'll bust the barrel for you directly."

"Yes, I [illegible] all about that, but I want to use it this week," she replied sarcastically, and the noise went on until the old man in a highly acrimonious state threw down the paper and went out. There was Becky, her hair flying all over creation, with a small hatchet in her hand and one thumb in her mouth. She looked the other way while she hammered at the flour barrel with about as much effect as a woodpecker operating on a tin kettle.

"See here—stop that," said he. "You'll never bust that barrel that way if you pound till kingdom come. You see in order to bust a barrel effectually it must be submitted to a sudden and sustained pressure. I'll show you. Just roll that thing up here till I jump on it."

She rolled the barrel up near the back steps, while the old man pulled off his coat and spit on his hands. Then he made three offers and jumped down on it with all his weight. The barrel cracked and then rolled, kiting him down so suddenly that one hand was jammed into the slop pail and he got up mad.

"A [illegible] gosh darn that thing [illegible] her up here again, Beck," and he jumped down like a trip hammer as the barrel flew across the yard.

"Oh! my poor wife and [illegible]" was all he said as he turned white around the ears and laid still. Then they gathered him up, found a hole in the back of his head, and a splinter two inches wide knocked off the lower step. To-day he stayed at home to cuss the man that invented flour barrels.—Eastern Free Press.

Cheating an Innocent Old Man.—One day last month when trade was dull a Vicksburg grocery clerk procured a piece of sole leather from a shoemaker, painted it black, and laid it aside for future use. Within a few days an old chap from back in the country came in and inquired for a piece of plug tobacco. The piece of sole leather was tied up and paid for and the purchaser started for home. At the end of the sixth day he returned, looking down-cast and dejected, and walking into the store he inquired of the clerk:

"Member that terbacker I got here the other day?"

"Yes."

"Wal, was that a new brand?"

"No—same old brand."

"Regular plug terbacker, was it?"

"Yes."

"Wal then, its me. Its right here in my jaws," sadly replied the man. "I knowed that I was gettin purty old, but I was allus handy on bitin plug. I never seed a plug afore this one that I couldn't tear to pieces at one chaw. I sot my teeth onto this one and bit and pulled and twisted like a dog at a root, and I've kept bitin and pullin for six days, and thar she am now, the same as the day you sold her to me."

"Seems to be a good plug," remarked the clerk, as he smelled of the counterfeit.

"She's all right. Its me that's failing," exclaimed the old man. "Pass me out a new [illegible] I'll [illegible] home and deed the farm to the boys and get ready for the grave."—[illegible] Herald.

Cure for Felons.—We have had a case of felon in our family lately and treated it successfully by steaming the whole hand with bitter herbs. It was allowed to progress through ignorance, until badly swollen, exquisitely painful and of a livid purple color. Being in the palm of the hand it involved the whole hand and wrist in the swelling. A handful each of tansy, hops, catnip and wormwood was thrown in an old basin, a small quantity of tobacco and half a teacupful of soft soap added and sufficient water to cover. When boiling hot the patient placed her hand over the steam, and a small blanket was thrown over the basin to retain the steam, which was applied until the mixture cooled. This was repeated day and night until the pain was entirely removed, which was in forty-eight hours. The relief from the paroxysms of pain is almost magical as soon as the steam is applied. The mixture was only once renewed. Between the applications of steam a poultice of soft soap thickened with slippery elm flour was applied, but I think it was unnecessary. After using [illegible] a day the hand was submitted to a physician who thought it should be lanced or more relief would be found in less than a week, but the next day the pain took its final leave. No anodyne was used to procure sleep, as the steaming instantly relieved the pain until the next attack.—Correspondent Country Gentleman.

HAUNTING EYES

In the hour I first beheld thee
Soft thy kindly glances fell,
And my heart bowed down before thee,
With neath a magic spell.
Since that time like some sweet phantom
In my being thy form doth rise,
And where'er my sad gaze wanders,
There I meet thy haunting eyes.

Oh! those eyes, their lovely shadow

And my heart is lang and heart[illegible]

LINN COUNTY FAIR

Second Day.

Albany, Oct. 7, 18[illegible]

The second day of the fair opened brightly, not only so far as the weather was concerned, though the outpouring of the people did not come up to general expectations. The trains from north and south brought a pretty fair crowd, mainly those, however, who came to remain but a short time. As far as we could observe there were but few entries at the office.

IN THE PAVILION

Where the exhibit consisted of a light display of vegetables, such as tomatoes, potatoes, cabbage and pumpkins entered by W. H. Adair, F. H. Foster and A. Pierce. J. G. Pfunder of Portland opened an additional lot of flowers, making quite a display and relieving the naked appearance of the room where but a few other articles were to be observed. Several ladies have placed on exhibition some needle work and a fair assortment of preserves. A. L. Miller & Co., of the Pacific Candy Manufactory, help to make up the meager assortment in the pavilion with a fine assortment of the firm's production in candies. A bundle of brooms, and a few chairs and two paintings, about complete all that could be mentioned. Mr W. B. Nation, an elderly gentleman from Portland, has a few trinkets of his own handiwork in view. Convenient to the pavilion are a number of farming implements, wagons, light and heavy, displayed by W. H. Dodd & Co., S. E. Young, Frank Wood, Brunk & May. A great distance beyond the pavilion, and, I may here state that great dissatisfaction exists owing to the fact that this building is separated from the center of the grounds. As it is, the crowd is divided and persons having business with officials find it rather irksome to tramp so far when occasion requires their presence on matters that might as well be done without the necessity of leaving the grounds proper to transact it.

STOCK

The main portion of the exhibit in this line arrived early and consequently were entered before noon yesterday. Beyond Mr S. G. Reed's introduction of thoroughbreds in the way of sheep, goats, cattle and draught horses, and the famous Autocrat there has been very little brought in. Peter Reilly entered a span of draught horses, J. R. McClure a stallion, and Samuel Cooper a mare and colt. Wm. M. Landrum, here on the first day with Angora goats, but being dissatisfied, for reasons best known to himself, presents but seventeen head of his goats, the balance, a large number being quartered a few miles distant. He remains, however, until Friday. Several breeds of swine are on exhibition by S. G. Reed, Frank Wheeler, J. R. McClure. Of the

FAST HORSES

Which are stabled on the edge of the grounds, west, we find some of the liveliest trotters, pacers and running horses in the state. Foster, Osceola and one or two other prominent horses are not here, but there are many that have made a good record, and others which promise well for the future.

Ryestraw, an iron gray gelding of Lindsey stock, is here in charge of old Jim Bybee, and as a running horse will make his mark ere another season passes by. Blue Mountain Boy, Mollie Welsh, Bill Gird, Eph Maynard, Napa and Antelope will serve to entertain the lovers of the turf. The usual opening address was omitted yesterday, in fact, nobody would have taken an interest in it anyhow. The

SHOWS

Comprise Wood's entertainments, with Prof. Rice, sword swallowing, etc., as the attractions. The menagerie, a minstrel party of Portland youths, catch penny pool tables and games attract those with limited means if nothing else can do it.

THE RACES

In the afternoon attracted some attention. The first was a trial of speed, running a mile dash for two-year olds. This was won by Bybee's "Oregon," in 1:58½; Baskett's "Ballant" coming in second by a neck only between them, and Schmedick's "Lumber Jim" distanced. The purse was $100—$67 to the first and the balance to the second horse. After some delay the race of the afternoon came off at 3 o'clock. Wm. Gird entered black horse "Bill Gird," which won the first two heats by close calls, in 1:54. His competitors were Baskett's sorrel colt by Napa, three years old, "Witham," and J. F. Miller's "Ryestraw." In each heat the latter made bad starts, though collaring the black before the three-quarter pole was reached. Each time Witham came in well behind, in the last heat being distanced. The purse, $150, was awarded between Bill Gird and Ryestraw, the former taking $100.

Rockwell & Hurlburt made an exhibition on the track following the contest, and it proved quite attractive. After this the crowds began to thin out and meandered to Albany. The manager informs us that the

RECEIPTS

For the first two days aggregated $800, rather light it would appear.

This morning the weather is beautiful. Country folks are flocking in and by the afternoon the crowds will be larger than ever during the fair. The lads and lasses of the county now appear in good numbers.

TRIAL OF ENGINE

Will take place to-morrow. The beautiful trumpet is on exhibition at the pavilion. Up to the hour of writing very few

ENTRIES

Have been made. They close at 11 o'clock and I fear from appearances that no increase in that particular will be made.

GONE

Bybee and Baskett have taken their fast horses to Salem for preparation for next week.

THIS AFTERNOON

The races promise to be more exciting than heretofore. Aside from this there will be little to see outside of the shows which are varied though not very attractive if we exclude the Museum where the Albany band plays and the outside man discourseth.

Wood's show and Rockwell & Hurlburt's are excellent exhibitions.

THE STANDS

Are brightening up for the day's business, looking forward to increase in trade. Quite a number of Portlanders are here awaiting the races and the trial of engines to-morrow.

Just as we write a speed horse got away in his sulky and made things lively, though accidents were not reported some narrow escapes were recounted.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT

In town was comparatively quiet,—the corner men with their patents spreading themselves, while Governor Grover got off a dry speech at the court house. The attendance was rather sparse. The gambling dens were filled during the whole night.

WHEAT

Is stored in the various warehouses to the amount of 900,000 bushels and more coming. Eighty two and a half cents is offered but no sales. The opening of the river to this point will prove a great deal of it. I will take a more extended look through the city this evening, and say what is to be said of the liveliest place in the Willamette valley.

THE PRESS

Is largely represented. Portland having the Oregonian, Herald, Home and Commercial [illegible] in view while Albany has the many workers and the [illegible].

Gird's Antelope was then allowed to go against time under protest. Time—first heat 2:45½; second 2:45; third 2:44; fourth 2:43.

The judges gave Antelope the race. Blue Mountain Boy second. Acker protested, went alone in 2:40 and claimed the race, which was not allowed. The decision will be given on Friday. There was much dissatisfaction shown.

CLARKE COUNTY FAIR.

Third Day.

Vancouver, W. T., Oct. 7, 1875.

The third and last day of the fair has passed off most pleasantly. The attendance has been larger than any day previous. The committees in the different departments have been awarding premiums, and are not all through with the work. In class No. 1 (horses) but few entries were made. Mr Edward Tyszkiewicz, of Columbia Island, has the premium for the best brood mare four years old and upward, and the best yearling colt. H. H. Burr, of Clarke county, was awarded the second premium for the best yearling colt. Henry Christ has the first premium for the best yearling stallion. For the best span of carriage horses Mr A. A. Miller of Multnomah county has the premium.

In class No. 3 (short horned Durham cattle) Mr E. Tyszkiewicz has the premium, he having no competitor.

In class No. 9 (butter, cheese, etc.), for the best 6 pounds butter 6 months old Mrs. M. R. Hathaway received 1st premium; best 6 lbs fresh butter Mrs. M. R. Hathaway 1st premium; best 6 pounds fresh butter, by girl 13 years old, Miss M. S. Hathaway, diploma; best cheese, one year old, M. R. Hathaway 2d premium; cheese, new, M. R. Hathaway 1st premium; fresh butter, J. S. Hathaway 2d premium; cheese, 1 year old, J. S. Hathaway 1st premium; new cheese, J. S. Hathaway 2d premium.

Mr J. S. Hathaway has carried off all the premiums for blooded swine.

In the other classes the committees have not completed the awards, and a further report cannot be had at this time.

The owners of fast horses have been somewhat "backward in coming forward," and up to 11 o'clock but one or two entries had been made. At 2 o'clock this afternoon a mile race was had between Hobart's chestnut stallion White Stockings and M. Shea's b. gelding Nimrod, resulting in the defeat of the latter.

But of all the articles on exhibition there is nothing quite so gigantic as the Big Sun flower, the stalk measuring 13 feet and the flower 17 inches in diameter.

McInsley, of Clarke county, exhibits a quaint old Bible, "imprinted at London by Robert Baker, printer to the king's most excellent majestie," in the year 1613.

The Howe sewing machine is represented on the grounds and attracts much attention among the ladies.

Mr. S. W. Brown exhibits a fine specimen of the Granger churn, patented by Goodnough, and Master Geo. DeVore has a very creditable piece of work on exhibition, consisting of an almost perfect drawing of a locomotive and tender. George is but 12 years of age, and the drawing was executed without any copy before him. He has received, as he deserves, the first premium.

The usual number of patent medicine men and venders of confectionery and mock jewelry have been on hand with their monotonous cry—"seeing is believing, but feeling is the naked truth, &c., &c." They are regarded as a necessary nuisance, and, indeed, the exhibition would hardly be complete without them.

Taking it all in all, the fair may be pronounced a decided success. The trials of speed were rather slim, but all the most important industries were well represented. The officers of the association for the coming year have not been chosen, but the decision is almost unanimous in favor of buying grounds and erecting permanent buildings ere another year.

The Arcadian Base Ball Club played the Spartans a match game at 1 P. M., resulting in a victory for the latter club by seven runs, the tally showing 21 runs for the Arcadians and 28 for the Spartans.

LETTER FROM TANGENT

Tangent, Oct. 7, 1875.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

There has been a new plan to raise wheat, inaugurated in the Albany Prairie, and that is to steal it from your neighbors' wheat piles, thereby saving the necessity of harvesting, threshing and sacking. On Sunday night, October 3d, a Mr. I. Long's wheat field was visited in this manner and proved to be fifty bushels less from the effects of the visit. Early Monday morning search was made, but up to date no clue to the perpetrator has been obtained. During the month of September last several farms have been drawn on in like manner, the farmers being so busy hauling off their grain that no efforts heretofore have been made to bring the guilty to justice, consequently the thieves have escaped, and made the enterprise a success, if such it might be called.

The grain this year is coming into market in better condition than it has for years before, there having been no rain during the harvest months to dampen it while being threshed or cause it to ripen unevenly, as was the case last year. The yield, too, has been very satisfactory, as far as I can learn. It is true that some fields have not turned out quite as well as was anticipated, while others have exceeded by far the most sanguine expectations.

The oats crop in this locality is not so good generally as in former years. The surplus will be quite limited. Barley is very scarce, there having been but little sown.

Now that harvest is over the farmers are burning the straw piles that have accumulated from threshing and in many cases their fences, as in the case of a Mr Wright in this vicinity. His neighbor fired some straw, the sparks set the stable on fire, and soon Mr Wright's fence joining the field was seen to be on fire, giving the parties nearest a splendid chance to show their muscle in fighting fire. One of the party thinks he has sufficient practice to stand old Lucifer off. The practice of burning straw should be abandoned; but if it must be burned it would be well to adopt the plan of an old and practical farmer in these parts, and that is to plow four or five furrows around the field to be fired, and then the fences are safe.

The Catholic Social Union opened its weekly meetings last Thursday, and although it was strictly a business meeting, to settle the affairs of the late entertainment and to make arrangements for the continuation of the meetings for the season, yet the time was varied with select readings by the members present, and a very pleasant evening was spent. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 12th, and it is hoped that there will be a full attendance of the members.

The programme will be both varied and interesting, including refreshments.

FRIDAY MORNING OCTOBER 8 1875

WENDELL PHILLIPS

In the old days when the government was "half free and half slave" Wendell Phillips, always erratic and not always discreet, not always just to the spirit of the constitution and genius of the Republic was nevertheless a man for the times He was never idle and his efforts were never without direct and practical purpose The intrinsic wrongfulness of making chattels of human beings and bartering with the dearest and tenderest sentiments of the human heart as commodities of barter in, was the theme that inspired his brain and clothed his tongue with fire His was no insignificant part in the education of the public mind against slavery and the creation of that "opposing and enduring force" of moral sentiment which rendered it impossible to continue the policy of compromise and concession to the slavocracy, by which the inevitable conflict was so long postponed And when at last the war came, the voice of Wendell Phillips was continuously heard above the confusion of the strife demanding in the name of that principle of eternal justice that respects neither persons nor races, that no adjustment should ever be considered for a moment which did not strike the fetters from the limbs of the bondman, and place him beside his master on the safe and solid ground of perfect citizenship and equality before the law

But with the end of slavery and the endowment of the freedman with the political and legal rights and immunities of citizenship, Phillips' day of usefulness seems to have passed away By one of those paradoxes sometimes met with in human affairs, he made practically the worst enemies of the colored people by demanding for them more than he was willing the white citizen of the South should have, and accepting as true every story they might be put up to tell about outrages committed upon them by whites after the legal reconstruction of the States was perfected His course with relation to the "Southern outrage" business of 1874, and with relation to the administration of southern affairs by the government, doubtless had much influence in intensifying the distrust between the two races, and rendered a settlement of the strife more difficult And now he is engaged in preaching against national honesty. The same man who nearly twenty years ago denounced the constitution of the United States as "a league with death and a covenant with hell," because it allowed slavery to exist, is now devoting his rare powers to the task of procuring the government to repudiate its plighted faith, and pay off its promises of money with worthless rags The clarion voice that once echoed and re-echoed the demand for the rights of the colored men, now improves every opportunity to urge upon the government a scheme for swindling its own creditors He is before the footlights in the beggar's opera which has been performing in New York city under the name of "The Legal Tender Club." He assails ex Senator Schurz, and all the rest of the honest-money statesmen as oppressors of the poor. It is eminently fitting that the Wendell Phillips who now takes the place of the Wendell Phillips we knew before, should be the candidate of the Massachusetts communists for governor of that state. Irredeemable greenbacks without stint, ten hours' pay for eight hours' work, and death to all "aristocrats," that is the platform of the Wendell Phillips of to-day.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION

The Philadelphia capitalists, Joseph Wharton, Henry C Lea and William Sellers, having generally heretofore approved of the course of Hon W D Kelley with relation to questions affecting the industrial and commercial interests of the country, and being therefore apprehensive that they may be supposed to favor his present scheme of interconvertible bond and greenback currency, have joined in a card to the public, which puts the case very well indeed After explaining the circumstances which they think make it proper for them to define their position, they say

We hold first That any revolutionary policy in monetary affairs, or the prospect of such a policy, must inevitably be destructive not only of many vested interests but also of that confidence in the future which was lost in the panic of 1873, which has not yet been recovered, and which is the main element of prosperity now lacking in this country The schemes to which Judge Kelley has attached his name seem to us to be of that revolutionary character

Secondly That these schemes are not merely revolutionary, but are intrinsically and in the highest degree unsound A plan of national finance consisting of the issue of unpayable promises to pay for use as currency interconvertible with bonds whose only function is to produce at will similar unpayable promises, besides begetting other such promises as interest neither bonds nor currency having any connection or relation with real money or fixed value of any kind appears to us devoid of that hold upon common sense without which no financial structure has ever long endured no matter by what ingenuity introduced or by what authority enforced

Thirdly—That, supposing our laws concerning currency and finance to require amendment, neither the devising of suitable legislation nor the administration of it when enacted, could prudently be entrusted to those who are now endeavoring to ride into power upon the presumed readiness of the country to welcome any scheme that promises even temporary relief, though at the cost of future suffering Few human affairs demand more sagacity and caution, as well as integrity than the regulation of a nation's currency and finance and these qualities are manifestly lacking in the leaders of any political party whose claims for support are based upon devices such as experience has proved to be ruinously fallacious

Fourthly That sooner or later the country must necessarily return to the standard of value which no legislation can change and that all schemes which promise relief by postponing the inevitable are worse than futile and must render the restoration destructive which otherwise should be beneficial

CAN THE DEMOCRACY HANG TOGETHER?

The Chicago Times regards it as a settled fact that the Democratic party cannot hang together through the national election of 1876 The division on the currency question will become more and more definite and the breach wider and wider from now till the time of holding the convention since it is now apparent that the currency question is to form the paramount issue of that campaign The hard-money creed and the rag-money creed are irreconcilable and the advocates of each are too much in earnest ever to yield the point of difference The result is likely to be a repetition of the performance of 1860 when there were two Democratic conventions and each put a candidate in the field and Lincoln the Republican candidate was elected It is scarcely among the possibilities that the honest currency Democrats of the East will back down and [illegible] over to the shin plaster ground and it appears equally improbable that the inflationists of the West with their prospect of securing considerable strength from Kelleyite Republicans will give up their theories and their purposes for the sake of harmony Especially will they hold on to the rag baby if they carry Ohio next Tuesday

WHAT THE CONVENTION OF FIRE ENGINEERS SAY

It is to be presumed the convention of engineers of fire departments has brought together as much practical talent in the line of fire matters as could be assembled in the country The suggestions of the convention deserve the attention of those who living in cities are liable at any moment to find themselves in the midst of a conflagration Firemen more than anybody else understand the prerequisites to efficiency in a fire department An opinion prevails very generally among intelligent persons that changes in the office of chief engineer are entirely too frequent and that the efficiency of any fire department would be promoted and consequently the lives and property of citizens better protected by putting a fireman of skill and judgment in the position of chief engineer and keeping him there In our little city of Portland it has been said by as competent firemen as could be found in our excellent department, that a term of one year is barely long enough for a man elected to the position of chief to make himself acquainted with all that he must know outside the range of an ordinary fireman's duties, before he is prepared to discharge the duties of chief engineer And there are frequently emergencies which demand such comprehension of the situation and such mastery of the resources at hand as is now learned by experience or observation, but appertain to that rare natural qualification, a genius for taking hold at the right time and place and in the right manner Many very good firemen would make very bad chief engineers The national convention of engineers urge this view of the necessity of keeping a good man when one is obtained The voice of the greatest experience is in harmony with the conclusion reached by those who have studied the subject from an outside standpoint When you have secured a chief-engineer who exactly fills the bill, keep him Allow no jealousies to displace him Allow no theories about rotation in office to remove him The question is not one of office, but one of protection to life and property It would be well for the people of the cities all over the land to give heed to the recommendation of the convention on this subject

Among the subjects specially set down for consideration by the national convention of fire engineers is that of the best means of reducing as much as possible the damages by water in putting out fires and it was stated in the convention that it frequently happens that more damage is done by the water than by the fire an observation which every person possessing any knowledge at all in the premises knows to be correct But the remedy for this was discovered before the convention met Joseph Buchtel of our city is the inventor of the apparatus that must reduce this class of damages to the minimum His electric or telegraphic hose enables the man at the nozzle to control the water supply as perfectly as if he were at the engine and that is the main thing to be accomplished in order to avoid damage by water

CITY.

A FATAL KICK.—Intelligence reached us last evening of a fatal accident which happened yesterday morning out in Washington county about seven miles southwest of Portland, on the School ferry road. Hiram Downing who lives on a farm in that vicinity was kicked by a vicious horse and instantly killed. It seems that Downing had a span of young and very [illegible] horses, which were difficult to handle, and had to be broken each time they were worked. Yesterday morning he drove both animals into a corral and while endeavoring to catch one of the animals received the fatal kick. Downing had approached close to the horse which was standing with its head toward him, when suddenly the animal wheeled about and kicked with all its strength. Both of the horse's feet struck the man, one in the pit of the stomach and the other on the right side—crushing several ribs. Downing never spoke a word after being kicked but died instantly. He leaves a wife and five children. The eldest a girl about 13 years old was with him at the time of the accident, and was assisting him to secure the horse. She was slightly injured by the horse falling against her. Deceased came from Nova Scotia to Oregon last winter. He was a steady and industrious man having purchased about ten acres of timbered land and was living on his farm. The family are left in straightened circumstances.

DESERTERS FROM THE ARMY. There have been a number of desertions from the army recently in Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory. Within the last few weeks there have been [illegible] desertions from the ranks of the 1st Cavalry, from the garrison at Walla Walla, and several from Company [illegible] at Fort Lapwai. Among those deserters of the latter company was a soldier named [illegible] Gray, who took away with him [illegible] horses for which he did not give a bill of sale. The following [illegible] order, No 54, issued March 27, 1875, by the secretary of war will be applicable in case of desertion: "General orders No [illegible] 9, 1871, from this office, are [illegible] so as to authorize hereafter [illegible] the recovery of lost or stolen animals [illegible] and in case of stolen animals, an additional reward of $25 for the arrest and due punishment of the thief."

CORRESPONDENCE DECLINED.—A note has been received from our regular correspondent "Wide Awake," in answer to a communication which appeared in the Statesman of the 5th inst, written by a member of the Aldine base ball club. The letter which in the Statesman was called forth by comments made by "Wide Awake," in the OREGONIAN of last Tuesday [illegible] of the point in controversy between the College and Aldine clubs, we are [illegible] and while we should be pleased to [illegible] "Wide Awake's" rejoinder, there are reasons to offer the public for protracting a useless discussion of a subject in which only the parties immediately concerned [illegible] any interest.

AT THE CONVOCATION.—In connection with the convocation of the Protestant Episcopal church, now in session in this city, services will be held as follows: On Friday morning prayer and litany at 9 A M, and [illegible] with sermon, at 7 30 P M. [illegible] morning prayer at 9 A M, and [illegible] of the Good Samaritan Hospital [illegible] at 3 P. M. On Sunday, full [illegible] and the administration of [illegible] Communion at 10 30 A M, and [illegible] evening prayer and missionary [illegible] services will be held in [illegible]. The business meetings will [illegible] Friday and Saturday in Trinity [illegible].

[illegible]—Last evening at 4 o'clock [illegible] Stephens sailed for San [illegible] following passengers: Mrs [illegible], E. G. Bruen, John [illegible], Geo. Gundlack and wife, [illegible] Fitzpatrick and wife, [illegible]enson, Mrs Blessington, [illegible] Philip Gerold, John Stott, [illegible] Henry Rosenfeld, Captain [illegible] and son, Samuel Lowenstein, [illegible] R. Sels, J Levy, Miss E [illegible] E. B. Dennison, Howard Dun[illegible], John F Darrage, A T [illegible] wife, and 25 in the steerage.

THE NESTUCCA INDIANS.—The Indians [illegible] located in the Nestucca valley [illegible] to the Salmon river portion [illegible], with the understanding [illegible] be under the jurisdiction of the agent of Grand Round. The Al[illegible], we understand, are also willing [illegible] to occupy lands with[illegible] of the Grand Round reservation [illegible] these Indians are con[illegible] one locality, and the country [illegible] thrown open for settlement the [illegible] for Oregon.

[illegible]—Prior to the adjournment of [illegible] Engine Company's meeting last [illegible] H. D. Sanborn, on behalf of the [illegible] presented Mr William [illegible] efficient and accommodating engineer of the company, with a heavy silver [illegible] appropriately inscribed in recognition of his valuable services. Mr [illegible] returned his thanks in a few feeling [illegible] the ceremony was at an end.

[illegible] SOCIABLE.—This evening a sociable will be held at the rooms of the Y M C A under the auspices of that association [illegible] music, tableaux and other [illegible] will be presented. The [illegible] in charge intend to make it a [illegible] the proceeds will go to defray [illegible] of the association it is [illegible] will patronize it liberally.

TWO YEARS.—In our report of the [illegible] yesterday an unintentional [illegible]. The paragraph read as follows: "[illegible] on fire and water reported [illegible] authorizing contract to be renewed [illegible] the Portland Water Co for ten [illegible] first and second time by title." [illegible] years it should have been two, [illegible] quite a difference.

[illegible] At a meeting of the teachers [illegible] Taylor street M E Sunday school [illegible] week, a Normal class was organized [illegible] the course of study arranged by the [illegible] school department of the M E [illegible] Revs. R. Bentley and I G Herron [illegible] E. J. Northrup and J K Gill [illegible] a committee of instruction and [illegible] as secretary.

[illegible] AT KALAMA.—[illegible] from Kalama on Wednesday says [illegible] was a little jollification here last [illegible] honor of the reappointment of [illegible] as superintendent of the railroad [illegible] consisted of a bonfire [illegible] of bells tooting of whistles [illegible] emptying of sundry kegs of liquid re[illegible].

[illegible]—Owing to an unexpected and [illegible] accident to our large power press [illegible] morning readers of the [illegible] did not receive their papers until [illegible] so later than usual. The detention [illegible] wholly unavoidable and knowing this [illegible] will more cheerfully excuse the [illegible] delay.

FIRST HEBREW BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.—[illegible] annual meeting will be held at the [illegible] on Sunday, Oct 10 [illegible] o'clock [illegible] P. M.

BALL AND BAT

Yesterday a game of base ball was played at Vancouver between the Spartans of that place and the Arcadians of Portland. The game was hotly contested and resulted in a victory to the Spartans, the score standing, Spartans 23, Arcadians 2[illegible].

ANNUAL CONVOCATION

SEVENTH ANNUAL CONVOCATION OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL DIOCESE OF OREGON—ADDRESS OF BISHOP B W MORRIS

The opening services of the convocation were held in Trinity church last evening. There were present in the chancel with the bishop the Right Rev B Wistar Morris D D, the Rev Messrs Babcock, Bonnell, Burton, Daly, Fischer, J A Hyland, Rosenberg, J R W Sellwood, J W Sellwood, Summers, Wells and Wexon. There was quite a fair congregation, a part of which was the teachers and pupils of St Helen's Hall. After evening prayer which was said by Rev Messrs Wells, Fischer and J R W Sellwood the bishop delivered his annual address as follows:

Bishop's Address.

After the close of the last general convention I remained in the East four months in the interest of this mission visiting congregations wherever I could gain a hearing and going from house to house with my appeals for aid in establishing the institutions of the church in this new country. I was thus employed every Sunday of this time except one when I was kept in doors by my physician and most of the other days of the week. It was a laborious winter and work that had many crosses upon the sensibilities of the natural man. I could not have continued it so long but for the cordial and whole hearted reception which I met with from most of my brethren clerical and lay and I hope I may be allowed this opportunity of thanking them for their warm and loving sympathy and for their ready and cheerful aid amid their own personal and parochial cares and perplexities of which I well know they have lifted or made lighter many inevitable burdens and while remembering well that it is more blessed to give than to receive I still owe them a large debt of gratitude. On my returning to my field in the spring I found that our various works had gone on with good success through God's blessings upon the most faithful and efficient efforts of my co laborers in school and mission work. There remained however to me a year of home work in travel and visitations to be done within six months. Notwithstanding this I have been enabled to make as full a visitation of the whole field as in any previous year. I have been twice to Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory twice to Puget Sound and once or twice to all the other parishes and missions in the district. I thus had but four Sundays in the past thirteen months at home for the three churches and chapels in Portland. There are now in this whole missionary district nineteen clergymen nine of whom are missionaries of our board. One of these the Rev P E Hyland, is at Port Townsend on Puget Sound, W T and one the Rev A S Nicholson is at Vancouver W T. Three are in the central part of the field in Oregon: the Rev J W Sellwood at Oregon City, the Rev R W Summers, at McMinnville, and the Rev T A Hyland, at Astoria. Three are east of the Cascade mountains: The Rev Dr Nevius, the Rev J T Hammond and the Rev Geo H Kaye, and one the Rev J R W Sellwood is missionary at large.

EASTERN OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY

In this part of our field our work is somewhat of the character of "associate missions." Mr Hammond being associated with the Rev Mr Wells at Walla Walla, and Mr Kaye with the Rev Dr Nevius, in the Grand Ronde and Powder river mission. In this part of the mission I have laid the corner stones of three churches—St Paul's Dalles City, The Church of the Redeemer, Pendleton, and All Saints Church Weston. The Memorial Church of St John Union, and St Peter's church, La Grande, were consecrated at my second visit this summer. St Stephen's church, at Baker City, though so far completed as to be used for divine service, had a debt of a few hundred dollars which prevented its consecration. The Church of the Ascension at the Cove, with those at Weston, Pendleton and the Dalles, are all well under way and will be ready for consecration this fall or winter. The building of these last three churches was rendered possible by the liberality of a member of the Church of the Redeemer, Brooklyn, of a brother beloved of the diocese of central Pennsylvania, and of a member of Trinity church Portland. Five hundred dollars thus given in each case secured the gift or easy purchase of a lot and the erection of a church building costing from $1,000 to $1,200, neat and fitting in every respect, and answering fully all the demands of the place for many years to come.

The work at St Paul's school Walla Walla in charge of the Rev Mr Wells, has so increased as to require an additional large school building the corner stone of which I laid on the 17th of July. The building has been rapidly pushed on and is already occupied by the schools, which begins this term with fifty pupils. This is one of our most important works, and so far has met with very encouraging success. The establishment of the only Protestant girls' boarding school in a central position like Walla Walla, with its far reaching tributary country is an undertaking that should commend itself to every wise and understanding churchman. This work has been begun and continued in a spirit of devotion and self denial rarely surpassed in any mission and is worthy of the generous support of those to whom God has entrusted the use of this world's goods. I had the rare pleasure this summer of the company and assistance of the Bishop of Montana who willingly undertook an additional journey of 500 miles by stage to join me in my eastern visitation. We met at Baker City 140 miles this side of Boise City and went together through the Powder river and Grand Ronde valleys and over the Blue mountains to Walla Walla. Bishop Tuttle preached in St Stephen's church Baker City and assisted at the consecration of St John's memorial church Union and St Peter's La Grande preaching the sermon at the latter place. He made an address at the laying of the corner stone of All Saints' church, Weston, and also at the laying of the corner stone of the school building at Walla Walla and he preached twice in St Paul's church on Sunday the 18th of July. His company and counsel were full of cheer and encouragement for us all and we had in his sermons a feast of good things, the relish of which will long be remembered. I hope it will not be long till other of our neighboring bishops favor us in a similar way. We have now in this eastern portion of the mission four clergymen and eight churches, with St Paul's school at Walla Walla and over 200 communicants. With such growth as we trust God will give the work in the next two years, this wide region together with the territory of Idaho will appeal strongly to the general convention for a bishop of its own.

PUGET SOUND

Our work in this part of Washington Territory has been much strengthened the past year by the coming of the Rev Chas R Fischer from the Diocese of Pennsylvania to the charge of St John's church, Olympia and by the removal of the Rev C R Bonnell to Trinity church Seattle. These brethren with your missionary at Port Townsend occupy a large field with their ministrations parochial and missionary, and their work seems promising in all respects. Special improvement is observable in the voluntary offerings for the support of the services paid at Tacoma and [illegible] faithful and efficient lay services are productive of marked good fruits. The chapel at Tacoma has been much improved by the willing offerings of the small congregation there whose zeal and liberality from the first are worthy of special notice.

In the central part of the field I am able to record encouraging growth also. The church building at Vancouver is steadily advancing toward completion chiefly through the personal efforts and labor of the missionary. [illegible] confirmed class of [illegible] persons there [illegible] the largest number confirmed this year in any one place except [illegible] Walla Walla. At Astoria and [illegible]

[illegible] St [illegible] church at McMinnville [illegible]

Encouraged by the contribution of $500 from the congregation of St Peter's Albany N Y I proceeded on my return to take steps toward the erection of a small church at Albany in this state. The citizens there promptly contributed what money was required for the purchase of a lot and on the 31st of May I laid the corner stone of St Peter's church. The brick foundation was soon after built and the building is now well under way. I am not aware that we have a single communicant in the town but our church is regarded with a good deal of favor by some of the most influential people and when once we are able to establish regular services I have no doubt that our undertaking will prosper.

A candidate for orders now in the General Theological Seminary has promised upon his ordination to come out and take charge of a mission establishment at this point. I look forward with much interest to the fulfillment of this promise and hope that some other deacon or presbyter may be induced to accompany him for the purpose of establishing an associate mission for the southern part of the state. I am often told that in and [illegible] from this point south to the line of California a distance of [illegible] miles through the very garden of the land we have not now a single clergyman and in a portion of the fairest and finest country six times as large as the state of Connecticut with scores of towns and villages our services are rarely heard and the visits of our clergy few and far between.

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL AND ORPHANAGE

The work in this institution was suspended soon after my leaving for the general convention and not resumed till my return. The building is now so far completed as to be occupied by a family with a superintendent Mr George Boyd a candidate for the ministry whose studies have been temporarily suspended on account of failing health. It is proposed to open the hospital and orphanage with appropriate religious ceremonies on next Saturday afternoon. In anticipation of this six children have already been admitted. The few acres of ground purchased last year are paid for [illegible] and a large and well appointed building has been erected at a cost of $10,000 of which $1,[illegible] remain unpaid. $[illegible]000 have been paid on the ground and building leaving a debt on the whole of $1,800. Five hundred dollars have been invested as the beginning of an endowment fund but the building is far from being furnished. We are now appealing to the liberality of our citizens for this purpose. One great difficulty in this undertaking from the beginning has been in the prevalence of the sentiment that ministrations to the sick and orphanage belong specially to the Romish church and that that system alone, with its orders and sisterhoods, its economy and self denial is competent to conduct such works as these. If this be so, then indeed must we confess that Protestantism is a failure. If ours be a system that must resign to other hands these which are the special offices of the gospel of Jesus Christ, let us give over everything else to them and lay no claim to be His disciples. Let us give all due praise to what has been done by our Roman Catholic brethren in this direction and let us take a stimulus there from to the performance of our own duty rather than an excuse for its neglect. We must know little of the history of the great charities of the world to suppose that they are limited to that communion. What noble hospitals homes asylums orphanages houses of mercy etc almost without number have been found maintained and ministered to by our mother Church of England. And here too the daughter is awakening to a sense of her duty and high privileges and is entering in many cases with a noble spirit into this same work. We can point to day to institutions of this character in the American church that illustrate a spirit every way worthy of the name we bear. Let us then of this favored land, not be backward here. This work has been begun in the solemn conviction that it belongs to Christ's church as it belongs to no other institution, human or divine and in humble trust that they who profess to be of His body and to be taught by His spirit will see to it that an undertaking so Christlike in its purpose shall not fail or come short of its measure through any fault of theirs. It is daily becoming manifest that we shall need almost immediately another separate building for the orphanage.

This was provided for in the original plan, and ample space left for it. Twenty five hundred dollars would enable us to erect it at once. Is there not some one within reach of this statement, who out of the abundance which the Lord of all has entrusted to a short stewardship can single handed and alone do this work for the love of Christ and of the little ones for whom He gave His life?

ST HELEN'S HALL

The last year of this school was one of increasing usefulness and satisfaction. My long absence in the East imposed many additional cares and anxieties upon those entrusted with its conduct but these were most cheerfully borne and every added duty efficiently discharged. Large is the debt due to those women who have labored so earnestly with me in this work as well as to others my fellow laborers in the gospel. The school opens this term with [illegible] pupils and has every prospect of a successful year.

THE BISHOP SCOTT GRAMMAR AND DIVINITY SCHOOL

The Rev. Geo Burton who last year had charge of this school together with the rectorship of Trinity church, has consented to resign the latter and give his whole time hereafter to the care of the school as head master. He has with him three competent assistants, and the school is in a growing and promising condition. The revenue last year paid the current expenses and the school opens with the promise of doing the same this year. These schools are the right arm of our work, and abundantly repay all the money labor and care by which they have been established and built up.

CHINESE MISSION

Our school for the Chinese continues as in former years though with a somewhat smaller number of pupils, on account of the opening of other schools of a similar character. Over fifty have been in attendance the past year. Two of these have been baptized, and one confirmed. The confirmation of one of those baptized was prevented by his leaving unexpectedly for China. The following letter from his brother is an interesting echo from the land of heathendom itself.

HONGKONG July 2[illegible] 187[illegible]

Dear Miss —— It is with my best compliments and respectfully to pen this worthless lines to you and inform you that Loong my brother had reached Chinese the 18th of May and left here for home on the [illegible]. I have received your kind letter on the mid July. I had addressed it with a Chinese envelope and sent it home as soon as I got it. I had heard that he had received it. As he came back from San Francisco I got considerable news from him and that is what he had from St Helen's hall. He said when he was there he was constantly instructed with Holy Bible and learn to love God. I am sure that I do not know which can I [illegible] pay you the compliments for the sakes and kindness to taught him, but I conclude God bless you. I [illegible] say that you will always have the favor and kindness to teach those sheep and bring them back to his shepherd. I can number the blessing what you got from our Almighty Saviour lately. I have [illegible] thing more to [illegible] but I [illegible] you will favor me with an answer. Please give compliments [illegible] you all.

I am yours truly and faithfully,
S CHAN YI HOY
Loong's uncle brother

EPISCOPAL RESIDENCE

I have purchased a half block of ground near to the grammar school, for the site of a future episcopal residence. I shall be able to pay for this and to have it fenced without drawing upon the $1,000 invested for the building fund. There is no present prospect of our undertaking the erection of such a house. But if the [illegible] could be had it would be very desirable to do so. Every year increases the inconvenience to which the Bishop and his family are subjected by being compelled to live in the midst of a large school. The needful quiet and retirement after long and laborious journeys is not easily found here and but little of the true home feeling and discipline can prevail in such a household where pupils and parents are coming and going at all hours. Six years experience of this has fully prepared me for removal to more retired quarters if it were possible.

CONFIRMATIONS

In St Paul's church [illegible] St Stephen's chapel [illegible] St John's church Olympia [illegible] at Steilacoom [illegible] St Peter's chapel Tacoma [illegible] Church of the [illegible] All Saints church Weston [illegible] St James' McMinnville [illegible] St Paul's church Salem [illegible] Baker City [illegible] St Peter's [illegible] St Paul's Walla Walla [illegible] St Luke's [illegible] Port Townsend [illegible].

While the number confirmed is less than last year it is still a good deal larger than in any previous year.

We have added two clergymen to our number and we have three candidates for holy orders two of whom are in Berkeley divinity school. Still the vacant places and long neglected fields call loudly for more laborers.

I am glad to record an improvement in the matter of direct voluntary offerings at the time of divine service for the support of the ministrations of the church. In many congregations this plan which was adopted with some fears at first, has worked well and is steadily growing in favor with both clergymen and people. I hope the time is not distant when all our ministrations shall be supported in this way and that fairs concerts entertainments, exhibitions and all other pleasure seeking money raising devices for the support of the services of God's house, will be done away with.

With this improvement however I regret to notice a failure in contributing to the general purposes of this mission and the missionary work of the church at large. Only two collections for foreign missions are reported, six for domestic missions, five for the disabled clergyman's fund, three for the endowment of the Grammar School and two for the Episcopal Fund. All these funds have been adopted by the convocation and by resolution made a part of our organized and consolidated system. It should be remembered that we are a part of the whole organized church and that we have an organized system of our own to sustain. We are not a number of independent congregations each caring only for its own special affairs but we are all bound in one and have relations and obligations to the united body. We have specially to found build up and sustain the general institutions of this missionary district. Very unequal partial and temporary would be our work if it were otherwise.

In this undertaking we have been and are still largely aided by funds that come to us from the love and liberality of our brethren in other parts of the church. But it should be our aim and ambition as it is our duty to advance every year toward a state of independence and self support. This we shall only do by sustaining these diocesan institutions and funds.

I would recommend that offerings be regularly made for the Episcopal Fund and that the people be properly instructed in regard to its character and purpose. I would further suggest that efforts might be made toward the erection of an Episcopal residence on the lot recently purchased. With the one thousand dollars now in hand and certain promises that have been for some time standing, I think it would be a practicable thing shortly to raise enough to build such a modest residence as would acceptably serve any bishop who may be set over you.

The securing of a comfortable residence for your bishop would be a very important step toward the permanent endowment of the Episcopate. While this would be of no pecuniary advantage to your present bishop but rather the contrary, it would doubtless promote the comfort and convenience of his family, and give him many hours for quiet work in his study which are now impossible. But even for this he can do little beyond giving suggestions to those who may choose to lead in such an effort.

I would add in this connection that the parish of St Paul's Salem—reports an offering for every object specified by the convention.

I am pleased to know that Trinity Parish Portland is soon to be supplied with the services of a rector the Rev George F Plummer for eight years past rector of St James Church Batavia in the diocese of western New York. He is a capable and faithful clergyman and I bespeak a cordial welcome for him from you all and a hearty and loyal co operation in his labors from the people of his charge.

It is true now as when St Paul addressed the Corinthians that "a great door and effectual is opened unto us and that there are many adversaries." To deal successfully with these we truly need large supplies of the wisdom and grace that come from above.

How appropriate and suggestive the appointed lesson for this evening's service just read in your hearing. "Giving no offense in any thing that the ministry be not blamed but in all things approving ourselves as the ministers of God." We live in trying times as regards the very foundation character and principle of our calling. The sad and sickening divisions and distractions of christendom, the rivalry of sects and parties, proclaiming that they are laboring for the same cause, and yet one dividing and pulling down another's work—to build up its own with the ruins, have taught men to look upon these leaders not so much as ministers of God, seeking to establish a Divine kingdom of unity and power, as promoters of personal interests or those of a narrow party or sect.

Hence the great temptation on the part of those claiming to be ministers of the gospel to become pleasers of men. Hence the prevailing opinion that we ought to be pleasers of men and that unless we are such we shall surely fail of all success in doing a work that men shall admire and praise.

What is the current tone in regard to this subject?

"How do the people like their new minister?" "Are they pleased with his sermons?" "Is he going to be popular and draw large congregations?"

These are the common questions. "The doctor's prayers were very eloquent this morning and his sermon listened to with great pleasure and favor by his admiring congregation among whom are many of the wealthiest and most fashionable people of the city. He is a charming man in the pulpit and in the parlor and will surely be well received in society and prove a great success." These, and others equally fulsome are the common comments in society and the newspapers concerning the preachers of the Everlasting Gospel.

Oh thou despised and rejected Saviour, who gave us that Gospel in whom men saw neither beauty nor comeliness. Oh ye heroic apostles saints and martyrs who were content to be made as the filth of the world and the offscouring of all things shall they who claim to be your disciples and heralds of the same Gospel tolerate or minister to such sentiments? What said St Paul in view of the estimate which men should make of him and his works? "With me it is a very small thing that I should be judged of you or of man's judgment." And how were the ministers to whom he wrote as you have just heard—to keep themselves from blame to give no offense to approve themselves as ministers of God in all things? Not by setting forth their gifts and attainments for the admiration of the public not by flattering and pleasing men not by turning the pulpit and house of God into [illegible] of entertainment and amusement and making themselves "popular" but by much patience in afflictions in necessities in distresses in stripes and imprisonment by labors and watchings, by pureness knowledge, long suffering, kindness, by the Holy Ghost and love unfeigned by the word of truth and the power of God by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left by honor and dishonor by evil report and good report as unknown and yet well known as dying and behold we live as chastened and not killed as sorrowful yet alway rejoicing as poor yet making many rich as having nothing and yet possessing all things."

These are the agencies by which we are to approve ourselves as ministers of God and keep our holy calling from all blame. Perish the thought that we come before men courting their favor or seeking their approbation for any other gifts or on any other ground. If our ministry will not bear this test woe worth the day that we put our hand to it.

We are human we bear this treasure in earthen vessels we are compassed with infirmities and we cannot but have respect to some recompense of reward. Let us not make the great mistake however of seeking it here and of our fellow men. If in any sense we look to what is called popular favor—to the approval and endorsement of the multitudes who see only on the surface and give their cheap verdict according to the temporal and short lived show of earthly things—if in any sense we look there for our reward for comfort and satisfaction in our ministry no matter how abundantly these may be bestowed in [illegible] of our power and renown when the trying day of trial comes we shall be compelled to say in the deep bitterness of soul "Miserable comforters are ye all."

In the award of that day which shall try every man's work of what sort it is, brethren [illegible] the only true recompense for the labor of the soul and the disappointments that must ever [illegible] in this world [illegible] that which is pleasing in His sight through Jesus Christ to whom be glory for ever and ever.
